Freak storm aftermath unfolding

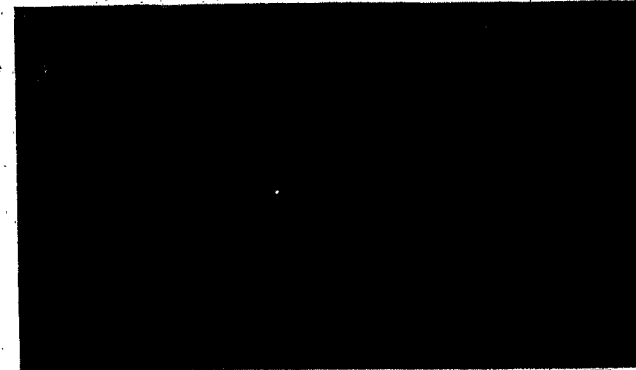

Emergency meeting set, Red Cross aid offered

SUNKEN SHRIMP BOATS—The Hancock County shrimp fleet at Bayou Cadet suffered heavy damage from strong winds and high tides Thursday. The masts of several sunken boats at the bayou are seen near one which remained afloat Friday. The boats of the fleet were sunk, pushed on high ground and even completely destroyed in the surprise storm. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

SEAFOOD OUTLET DAMAGED—The Bayou Cadet Fisheries received heavy damage from the storm. A boat fuel storage tank banged into a building along with several autos. Fishermen check damages Friday morning. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
An emergency meeting concerning devastation at Bayou Cadet Marina is scheduled Monday and the Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross is offering emergency assistance to flood victims, both as a result of damage by the Thursday storm.
E. Michael Necaise, Hancock chancery clerk, Friday reported the County Board of Supervisors will meet in emergency session at 9 a.m. Monday at the Courthouse in Bay St. Louis to discuss aid for the crippled fishing fleet and marina.
Robert (Bobby) Boudin, County Civil Defense director, Friday said damage to the fleet is estimated at $307,000.
He said that figure includes seven boats either sunk or lost in the storm and 11 vessels aground in the marshes of southern Hancock.

The unusual winter storm surprised meteorologists, local officials and residents with a tidal surge of about five feet above normal and winds reportedly gusting up to hurricane force (73 miles-per-hour).

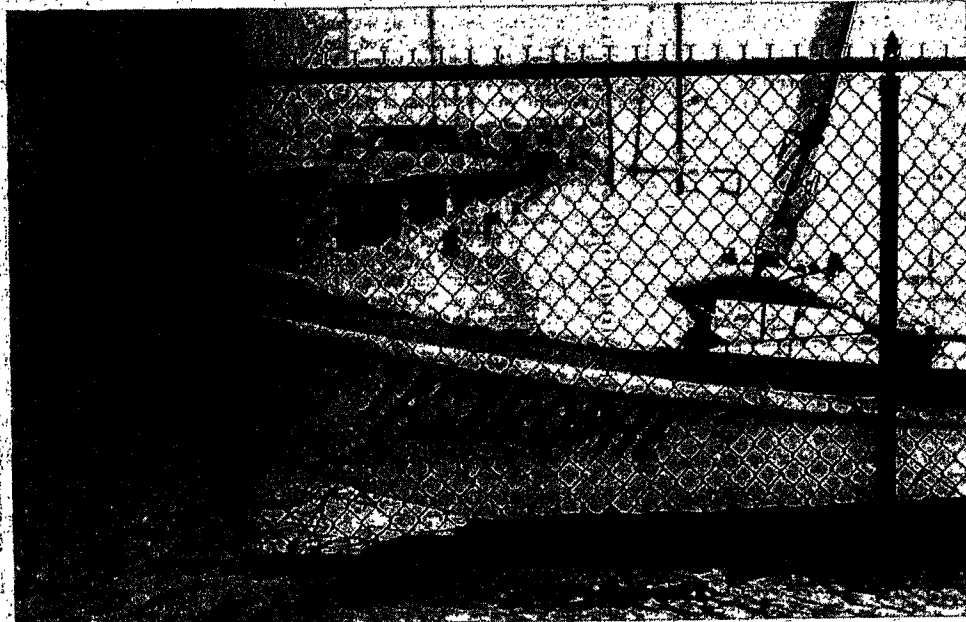

Weather reports prior to the storm estimated a moderate storm with fairly strong winds and a maximum three-foot tidal surge would occur here.

But many residents in low-lying areas awoke Thursday morning and unexpectedly discovered water flooding their homes.

To help the flood victims, the Red Cross is offering emergency assistance today (Sunday) from 9 a.m. until noon at the Civil Defense office located in the Valena C. Jones Center at the corner of Old Spanish Trail and Booker Street.

In addition, Boudin asks anyone with damage resulting from the storm to report the loss to the Civil Defense office by telephoning 467-9228 during normal work hours Monday through Friday.

Hundreds escape during tidal surge

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Hundreds of Hancock County residents awoke Thursday to discover their homes were completely surrounded by water.

Civil Defense, National Guardsmen, sheriff's deputies, and volunteers using boats and trucks spent the day rescuing persons fleeing rising waters caused by exceptionally high tides pushed by strong winds.

Local authorities were unprepared by the surprise high waters.

The fishing fleet docked at Bayou Cadet was heavily damaged. Many boats sunk while others were pushed up on high ground. Several boats were completely destroyed, as were the autos and trucks owned by the fishermen.

One fisherman's wife said, "We never knew it was coming, it caught us by surprise, the weather bureau never indicated such a storm. When we know one is coming we prepare for it by moving our boats to safe harbor."

Rescuers were called to assist pregnant women, stroke victims, blind persons and women with infants in areas covered by water.

In addition to the Bayou Cadet area, Lakeshore, Ansley, Pearlinton, Clermont Harbor, Bayou Phillip's, Jourdan River Shores, Shoreline Park, Garden Island, Harbor Estates, Cedar Point, and Blue Meadow Road near the Jourdan River all had surface water problems.

Many of the hundreds of persons removed from the flooded areas went to the homes of relatives and friends. The Senior Citizens in Bay St. Louis were also accepting displaced persons.

Red Cross volunteers were placed on standby with only one shelter needing to be opened.

The students of St. Clare's School in Waveland were evacuated from the water-surrounded school early Thursday morning by school buses and City of Waveland employees in trucks.

Mayor John Longo said, "The students were in no danger, but since the school was completely surrounded by water we felt it necessary."

The water in the branch area of Vacation Lane, which is a back exit from St. Clare's, had water reportedly two foot deep.

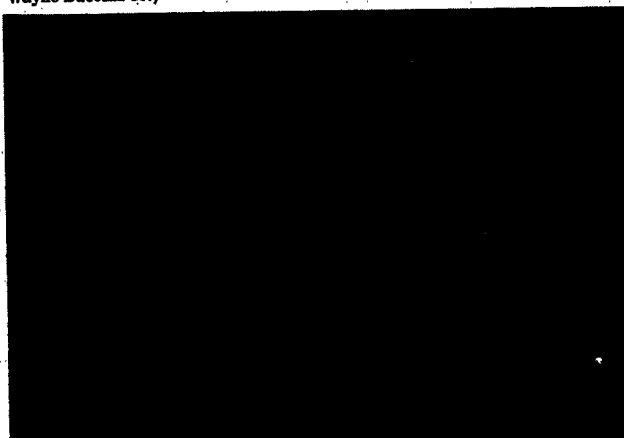

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett said Thursday there were several tree limbs broken and crewmen had to clear Beach Boulevard of debris washed in by the high tides.

All Hancock County Deputies, including auxiliary members and extra dispatchers were summoned by Sheriff Ronald Peterson early Thursday. Waveland and Bay St. Louis police had extra patrolmen on duty.

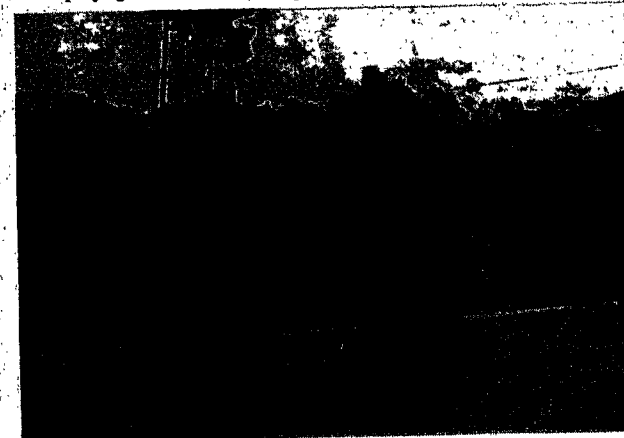

The sheriff's office has four local incoming lines and they all were busy.

SHORELINE REFUGEES—A skiff filled with Shoreline Park residents fleeing high waters flooding their homes Thursday moves along an inundated Hwy. 603 ditch. FLOATING TRUCKS—Bobbing in floodwater waves Thursday which inundated Beach Boulevard just west of the Lakeshore Road intersection near Bayou Cadet are two pickup trucks apparently stalled near a house under construction. Vehicle access to nearby Buccaneer State Park was impossible because of the tidal surge accompanying a freak storm. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

JOURDAN RIVER SANS SHORES—High waters in an unusual and unexpected winter storm Thursday flooded most of the Jourdan River Shores Subdivision. A Coast Electric Power Association spokesman Friday said a tree fell on lines which caused a temporary power outage in that area. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Women fined $13,543 for food stamp fraud

By BRENT MACEY

Two Lakeshore women, a mother-in-law and daughter-in-law, were fined and received suspended 10-year prison sentences for charges of fraudulent use of food coupons Thursday in Hancock County Circuit Court.

Jo Ellen Champagne, 45, was ordered to pay $10,988 in restitution to the Welfare Department after she pled guilty to seven counts of fraudulent use of food coupons.

Dena Champagne, 24, charged with six counts of fraudulent use of food coupons, was ordered to pay $2,554 in restitution after she pled guilty.

The restitution must be paid within six months.

Circuit Court Judge J. Ruble Griffin placed both women on three-years probation and also ordered them to pay court costs.

Both will be ineligible to receive food stamps for two years.

In other action in Circuit Court this week, James Conley, 62, was found guilty of armed robbery and sentenced to 11 years in the state penitentiary in Parchman.

The state alleged that Conley masterminded the theft of several diamond rings, money and a diamond studded watch from Virginia Guilbeau, when she returned to her house on Firetower Road in Hancock County Jan. 18, 1963.

The maximum penalty for the offense is life imprisonment and the jury deliberated for some two-and-one-half hours before finding the defendant guilty.

The case is expected to be appealed by court-appointed attorney Aaron Adams.

On Friday in Circuit Court, the Grand Jury handed down 32 indictments and gave a partial report on their two weeks of duty.

Some 100 cases have been heard by the jurors who will return Wednesday of this week to wind down the session. None of the indictments have yet been given to the Hancock County Sheriff's Office to be served.

Griffin expects a final report and all indictments to be finalized this week. However, he noted a possibility exists

FRAUD—Page 6A

Bay St. Louis accepted into wastewater district

By BRENT MACEY
The City of Bay St. Louis was accepted into the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District Wednesday after the district's board agreed to compromise with Bay St. Louis officials over one phrase in a 15-page management contract.

The district's board had been sceptical of a contract offered by Bay St. Louis officials last month. One phrase in that contract prevented Bay St. Louis from joining the district.

On Wednesday, Bay St. Louis City Clerk Eddie Favre offered the district the same contract with a new phrase which he and Bay St. Louis City Attorney Joseph Gex formulated.

After reviewing the phrase, Lucien Gex, the City of Waveland's Attorney and the District's attorney, agreed that the contract offered by Bay St. Louis was acceptable.

District board members then approved the contract unanimously.

Since the City of Waveland did not have the same phrase included in its contract to join the district, the district's board agreed to allow the city of Waveland to amend its contract to include the same phrase now included in Bay St. Louis' contract.

That action was taken by Waveland aldermen at an aldermen meeting which followed immediately after the wastewater meeting.

Both contracts are now almost identical.

The phrase now included in both contracts allows both cities to retain their treatment facilities in the event that bonds on the cities' respective sewage treatment facilities are not outstanding at the end of initial 30-year lease periods.

The phrase also enables each city to retain ownership of its facility if that facility is not being used to treat sewage at the end of that 30-year lease period.

Currently both cities have agreed to lease their sewage treatment facilities to the district for 30 years for a cost of $1.

Prior to the Wednesday agreement, Bay St. Louis officials feared they would have to continue leasing the district an 80-acre sewerage lagoon site in Bay St. Louis regardless of whether the lagoon was being used to treat sewage.

Now that Bay St. Louis has joined the district, Waveland and Bay St. Louis officials will have to meet to determine what ratio of monthly payments each city must pay the district.

Terms in the contract call for each city to pay the district the amount required to meet direct expenses for running its treatment facility.

A pro-rate portion of the general overhead required to run both treatment facilities will be assessed each city.

Exactly what portion of the total overhead will be paid by each city has not been determined, although Waveland Mayor John Longo, president of the district, suggested each city be assessed an equal amount.

George Vairin celebrates four score and fifteen after frustrating undertaker

By F. V. FAVRE
"I was born January 8, 1888. How old does that make me now?"

Ninety-five, Mr. George! He has more hair, though it's white, and fewer creases in his face than many men half that age.

"That's pretty old, ain't it?"

Mr. George leans back in his recliner and smiles.

"You know," he says, "fifty years ago they were getting ready to bury me." Here he sits up straight and laughs aloud.

"I was awful sick; had pneumonia, I think. A friend of my daddy came in and I heard him say, 'Sorry to hear your boy's going to die.' Fooled him, didn't I?"

George Humphries Vairin surely did fool him and a lot of other people over the years.

During the depression, when eighty-five cents was a lot of money, he was bet that amount he couldn't swim across the Jourdan River. He did, with no trouble, and then swam back to collect. He says that wasn't a gamble because he had done it many times.

Another surprise had to do with baseball. Mr. George's favorite sport. He played all positions, except pitcher. He even played catcher, light as he was at 135 pounds. (He is almost the same weight today.)

This particular game stands out in Mr. George's memory because it was an important game between the "Bay Boys" and their rivals in the Kiln and because of the outcome. Mr. George loves to tell the story.

"We were behind by a run. There were two men on base, but we already had two outs. It was the end of the game and I was the last batter. I swung at the first pitch and fouled it back. The next one was a ball outside, but the umpire called it a strike.

"Everybody started leaving. Even the players on the field started walking off. Well, that made me mad! And the next pitch I knocked the cover off it. It was a three-bagger. I stopped at third and everybody was whooping and hollering. I had won the game! One fellow picked me up and carried me around like a baby. Some of them had a lot of money bet on that game, you see?"

It doesn't really matter if you see or not; Mr. George sees it vividly.

Mr. George says he never gambled on ball games or anything else. Once a friend gave him a tip on a horse race. Mr. George watched the race but wouldn't bet. His horse came in first and paid a bundle, but Mr. George says he's still glad he didn't bet.

If I had won a lot of money, I might have become addicted to gambling. It's a terrible thing when a man gets addicted to anything. I never smoked cigarettes or drank whiskey either, well, very little, anyway," he adds.

"There was one time, though, I would have bet, but I didn't have any money then. 'My daddy, James Wilson

Vairin, was running for sheriff of Hancock County. The man he was running against was a real politician. Everybody expected him to win. He spent lots of money on his campaign, throwing parties and hiring hands to play. My daddy didn't have any money, so he just went all over the county in a buckboard visiting and telling people how he wanted to run the sheriff's office.

"Election day, the other man had a big celebration going and my daddy beat him by 411 votes!" Mr. George sits on the edge of his chair, laughing and excited by the memory.

During his father's term as sheriff, Mr. George worked with him as tax clerk. He also drove the sheriff around the county in the automobile the senior Vairin never learned to operate.

Mr. George was equally comfortable using a hand crank on a Model A, "divver" as it was called locally, or a "giddyup" on a horse or a mule. He used mules to haul timber out of the woods for a lumber company and plowed a mule or horse in the garden he always kept.

His gardens were the finest and produced the best and the most of everything. For years he was known, by little boys who know, as the "Watermelon King."

Mr. George made a living gardening at times and, except for the years he spent in New Orleans, kept his family supplied in vegetables.

New Orleans! Now, there's a subject Mr. George warms to. He was born at 1010 Chartres Street and a large part of his heart seems to have stayed there.

The family moved to Bay St. Louis when Baby George was only a few months old. The other children, four boys and two girls, were born here.

As George grew up, he loved to go to the "city." To a young man, New Orleans was the world. There he learned to play pool, something he would never do in the Bay where someone might tell his mother. In New Orleans, George saw the first talking movie to come to town. "Glorious Betsy," and he can still tell you the plot and the outcome.

In New Orleans, George fell in love. The story is a lot like one of those early melodramas. The handsome, young man with blond, curly hair but no money, falls for the rich society girl.

Unfortunately, Mr. George never felt he had enough to offer a wife, so he never asked the girl to marry him.

Mr. George worked in New Orleans for several years as a railroad detective. It was his job to patrol the rail yards at night to see that nothing was stolen and to check the condition of incoming train cars.

He was paid more than a policeman was paid at that time and had authority above the police in the rail yard. But, when the management changed hands, he quit, came home to Bay St. Louis, and went to work in the Vairin family store.

That building still stands and now houses Jerome's Department Store. After the deaths of his parents, James W. and Evelyn (Nellie) Humphries Vairin, Mr. George lived on the old home place with his two bachelor brothers, Horace and Edwin. In the mid 1950s, Edwin died. The following year, Horace married and once again there was a woman's touch in the home.

Mr. Horace worked for the Post Office, Mr. George gardened, and Miss Lottie cooked and canned what he raised. Mr. George says she was the best cook he ever knew.

Mr. George continued to be active, gardening, attending Masonic lodge meetings, playing bingo, ("That's no gambling, it's just a game.") and tending fence lines to keep the cows in, until he was well past 80.

He entered the hospital for the first time in his life at the age of 87 for cataract surgery.

The surgery improved his sight for a short time, but glaucoma was also working and today he can only see a little bit of what is directly in front of him.

He still enjoys watching television, but can no longer play checkers or read, two things he did a lot of at one time.

In 1973 Mr. Horace died. Miss Lottie, also in failing health, stayed on until she was no longer able to care for herself and Mr. George and their rambling two-story house.

A year ago, Mr. George went to live with a great-aunt.

He takes a walk around the yard with his great-niece and his great-great-nephew. He walks steadily and confidently with his hand on a trusted arm.

He says, "If I could see good, I'd take a long walk down the road every day and make a big garden every spring. But at my age I'm lucky to be living, ain't that so?" He waits expectantly for agreement.

"Yes, sir, you're a lucky man."

"God bless the kind people around me."

"And God bless you, Mr. George."

Correction

An erroneous date for a forthcoming St. Stanislaus High School reunion was inadvertently reported in the Thursday Sea Coast Echo. Correct date of the event at the Jefferson-Orleans Hotel in Metairie, La. is Saturday, Jan. 23, 1965.

MEET SHARON LAMBERT, RN

Sharon Lambert, RN, is the day shift nursing supervisor here at Hancock General. She received her nursing diploma from Emmanuel Hospital School of Nursing in Portland, Oregon, and has a total of 19 years experience in the field of nursing. She has served in the Army Nurse Corps, as a visiting nurse and in clinics across the country. Sharon worked at Methodist Hospital in New Orleans for eight years, serving as a staff nurse, infection control nurse and assistant director of nursing. She has been here at Hancock General for the past six years, and has served as infection control nurse and now day shift supervisor. Sharon and her husband, Kenneth, reside in Ansley with their daughter. As day shift supervisor, she is responsible for the nursing care of the patients during her shift, and maintains good working relationships with nursing personnel, medical and surgical staff, patients and their families. The nursing service at Hancock General Hospital, staffed 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, is our single largest department, and the services our nurses provide, like Sharon, are just another way Hancock General, your community hospital that cares, continues to strive to provide the best in patient and health care. Joy of collecting to be explored in Library program

By JOE FILET
Coordinator
Friends of the Library
Three Hancock County residents representing Clermont Harbor, Waveland, and Bay St. Louis will participate in a program entitled The Joy of Collecting to be presented in the Main Library Thursday, Feb. 3.

The event is sponsored by Friends of the Library, John Traver, operatic baritone with accompanist, Olive McKenna will open the meeting with solo selections at 7:30 p.m. Dorothy Brown, owner of the Antique Arcade, plans to display several articles made of glass from her private collection.

Glenn Green who was bitten by the collector-bug in the Cumberland Mountains of Tennessee about 17 years ago now owns a collection of over 9,000 canning jars and is one of the country's foremost collectors of primitives.

His ever-growing collection is scattered over three states, but he calls Bay St. Louis "home base."

He plans to display a set of five antique jars of the Ball and Mason trade name, a box type double spring rat trap, a dasher type butter churn with box type butter mold.

Roland Oscar Flick, a unique collector, has a two-acre spread in Clermont Harbor where his warehouses display "just about every tool Ford ever made."

Car hood ornaments classified as contemporary art, a large array of toys that children from the 1850's through the turn of the century loved, and cherished, carpenter's tools, and cobbler's tools are included.

Flick was born and reared in New Orleans and was an automobile mechanic.

He learned his trade the hard way, with "a book of instructions in one hand and a tool in the other."

Flick said: "I worked on cars for nothing—just to learn and I just love working on cars." He retired in 1958 to devote full time to his hobby of collecting.

"Fifty-five years of collecting finds me with enough items to stock a museum," Flick said.

What motivates his many collections such as cobbler's tools, and radiator caps?

"I suppose it's a way to try to preserve a bit of vanishing America," he said, and added "In a way just about everybody is a collector, I have worked on cars since I was 15-years-old and just love it, and I respect good tools and well designed cards."

Traver of the South Florida Opera Company with McKenna on piano as accompanist, will appear early on the program with several solo selections.

Traver, a baritone, sings frequently at Our Lady of the Gulf and other churches in this area.

In order to move the program along within a limited time frame, a mechanical timer will be used allocating ten minutes for each person.

There are many talented people in Hancock County, whom Friends of the Library would like to present, so we have to move our programs right along to fit a lot of interesting people into a limited time frame," the coordinator explained.

Mrs. C.C. McDonald Sr. will present Certificates of Appreciation to Elizabeth Claggett who appeared on January's program with a slide-lecture on antique jewelry, also to Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Mauffray and Mrs. John Scaffide Jr. for the evening's social hour arrangements.

Dickens holds Joppa Shrine Temple office

H. Cecil Woodruff of Biloxi was elected as potentate of Joppa Shrine Temple Monday during the annual election of officers conducted at the Mosque headquarters on Commerce Street in Gulfport.

He is the sixth illustrious potentate to head the new temple.

Woodruff was born in Pachuta having attended Ellisville Junior College, and aircraft engineering school at Nashville, Tenn.

While at the latter, he joined the Marine Corps when Pearl Harbor was attacked, and served in the Pacific as an engineering chief for fighter and bombing squadrons in the Okinawa campaign.

He was cited for outstanding performance by Admiral Nimitz by directing repairs in lieu of installing of engines when coral dust caused internal clogging by restricting the oil flow. Time and money were realized as a result.

After completion of over three years military service, he worked as an aircraft maintenance assembly and disassembly man, and in 1948, opened a service station on Porter and Beach Boulevard, Biloxi in 1948.

In 1953 he opened a service station on Rodenberg and Pass Road until retiring in 1978.

He is married to the former Beryl Dalgo of Ocean Springs. He was employed as a cost accountant in the Civil Engineering Section of Keesler AFB until her retirement.

She is active in the Shrine Auxiliary and Daughters of the Nile.

Elected officials to serve with Woodruff during 1983 are Jimmy Carter, chief raban, Pascagoula; W. Howell Yarbrough, assistant raban, Gulfport; Robert Simmons, high priest, Ocean Springs; John Topp, oriental guide, Gulfport; Jesse Blackwell, treasurer; Dorrance Dickens, recorder, Bay St. Louis.

Toby Rasplair was appointed as chief aide to the Potentate.

WYES-TV to air 'Great Chefs of New Orleans'

Chef Daniel Bonnot of New Orleans' Louis XVI restaurant believes cooking is an art — "like a painting," he says.

Bonnot's fine artistry with food takes center stage on 'Great Chefs of New Orleans' Thursday, Jan. 27, at 7:30 p.m. on WYES-TV/12 and repeated Saturday, Jan. 29 at 10 a.m.

"It is important to have contact with the customers," says Bonnot, who opened the Louis XVI ten years ago.

"In a restaurant you only have one side and you put all the feeling and the wonderful conception of what you made into it but you miss the reaction of the customers and the pleasures they have by the eating of the dish."

Sometimes Bonnot's customers let him know personally the pleasure his dishes have given them.

"You always are hoping you did your best and sometimes people come back and you feel proud," he admits.

For Great Chefs of New Orleans Bonnot prepares a menu which includes Cream of Garlic Soup, Salade Tiede, Redfish en Crouste aux Deux Mousles, and Paris Brest.

It is an all-French menu, reflecting Bonnot's French heritage — he was born 20 miles from Cognac and apprenticed in Paris. The surprising soup, which begins with sliced onions and crushed garlic cloves sauteed gently in butter, is thickened with French bread.

Bonnot's classic dessert, Paris Brest, was created to be prepared and served aboard the Paris-Brest train — "the pastry was made to be prepared very quickly and served in the time between the two cities," he notes.

Using eggs, flour, sugar, butter and milk, Chef Bonnot quickly mixes a Pate a Choux, piping it onto the cooking surface and finishing with a wash of egg and slivered almonds.

He then prepares the Creme Patissiere and cools it completely before his final touch — hazelnut paste and whipped cream for a diet-destroying finale. With the entree he recommends a 1978 Mersault; with the Paris Brest, a 1970 Chateau D'Yquem Sauternes.

The dinner is served in Bonnot's restaurant, well-known in a city of excellent restaurants for its elegance.

Emergency craft needed along Coast for storms

We were stunned Thursday morning to learn there were no amphibious craft available in Hancock County.

At one time the Mississippi National Guard had such units, but we were told the crafts have been phased out and are no longer issued to units.

Right off we want to make this clear, we are not knocking our National Guardsmen, as many were out helping on a volunteer basis very early Thursday. Later they were activated.

There are so many areas of Hancock County only a few feet above sea level, and we have the potential for another sudden storm, there is a tremendous need for some type of amphibious craft.

There were some instances Thursday when the water was too low for boat rescue, and yet too high for auto or pickup trucks.

An amphibious vehicle would have been just the thing to use in these cases.

We know when there are advanced warnings, persons in the flood prone areas can get out before, but what if there are no warnings.

It happened one time, and could easily happen again.

The large trucks used by the National Guard were a blessing Thursday, because as one volunteer said, we only take out two or three persons in our small boats, while the trucks were moving 25 or 30 each time.

The problem is the National Guard trucks can only travel in water up to a certain depth.

We hope our elected officials will look into the possibility of having some amphibious craft stored for emergencies.

Quotables by CUEVAS 99

As we drove along Beach Boulevard Saturday morning, the water looked so smooth.

It was hard to think that just two days ago, the tide and waves were so high, autos had water over their tops in some areas.

We are still at a loss as to why the people did not have more of a warning from the weather bureau on this storm.

Apparently someone was sleeping on the job or not paying attention to happenings.

We have spoken to many folks who were trapped in their homes by high water in the lower areas of our county.

They all said it was a nightmare to awaken and find themselves confined to their home because they were completely surrounded by water. In many instances autos and pickup trucks had already been drowned out by water.

The building codes sure came in handy, because persons constructing their residences according to specifications on elevations did not suffer any water damages in their living areas from tides.

The mud left behind in their yards and utility areas, well that is another problem.

It will take some time to get rid of the mud in many areas because of the quantity.

The storm was a big surprise to everyone. In our conversations with numerous old timers, we haven't found one who could remember a January which had such high winds and tides in Hancock County.

We can remember several spring storms, but, they were in March and April.

Action was taken by all officials in the county and cities when the nature of the storm was realized.

We know many folks had to wait, some several hours before they could be reached, this was because of the number of persons requesting assistance.

Nothing for sure helped the situation, and that was Highway 603 in the Shoreline Park area.

Highway gave rescue officials a point to work from in reaching those folks living on the many canals in the area.

Many rescue people have told us about how well they were treated by the public who offered them sandwiches and refreshments.

There were so many volunteers, many of whom had programs themselves, and we offer our thanks to them for their concern of their fellow man.

Damages will probably reach in the millions of dollars in Hancock County from the storm.

Elected officials worked for several years to funds to repair Beach Boulevard.

Repairs were recently completed and now apparently have to be made.

We will have to wait and see what inspections of the road will reveal, we know there was some damage.

We hope there will not be another storm, just in case there is one, we hope the people will get enough warn-

Voter questions Rep. Lott on Social Security measures, Lott replies

January 14, 1983
Rep. Trent Lott
Washington, D.C. 20515

Thank you for your prompt reply to my January 7, telecon concerning the merger of the Civil Service Retirement Fund and the Social Security Insurance System. Unfortunately, I do not know whether you truly oppose the merging of the two systems or if you are just paying lip service to me.

One thing that bothers me is the "legislative package" you speak of in the third paragraph of your letter. You and I both know the merging of the systems is not going to be a bill unto itself and therefore will be part of a "legislative package."

I am also sure that you will have the opportunity to vote for or against this "legislative package."

Are you willing to set my mind at ease and assure me that you will oppose any "legislative package" that will merge the two systems? As the Republican Whip you should certainly be able to influence your colleagues enough to keep this merger out of a "legislative package."

Another thing that bothers me is your voting record and that of Senator Cochran. You have almost consistently voted wrong on any legislation concerning Federal Employees. Senator Cochran has been consistent in voting against Federal Employees.

If you're really interested in your constituents, you could ask the President's National Commission on Social Security Reform why forcing Federal Workers out of the Civil Service Retirement Fund (a financially sound system) and forcing them into the Social Security Insurance System (a financially unsound system) is the only point (1 of 25) they can agree on after working (?) together since September (what a waste!).

Ask them why they haven't included state and local government employees, the TVA, and most important, why aren't they scrapping the Presidential & Congressional Retirement Systems?

Please tell me and the rest of your constituents how your Congressional Retirement works. You know, how long do you have to serve in Congress to receive how much? How old do you have to be to collect and what kind of cost of living raises you get? If I forgot to mention anything like expense accounts, BX privileges, etc., please include these also.

In view of the pathetic shape Social Security is in, why should 27 members of Congress making in excess of $69,800 and the President making $200,000 be allowed to collect Social Security Benefits tax free?

If I appear hostile towards you, there may be some very good reasons for it. For instance:

Aug/82—The President's pay agents reported that Federal white-collar workers salaries lagged 17.08% behind the private sector.

Congress approved and the President signed a tax revenue bill imposing a 1.3% tax on Federal Workers for Medicare effective January 1, 1983.

Sep/82—Senator Stevens (R) introduced a bill to bring new Federal Employees into Social Security.

High caliber of Waveland city employees cited by new resident

January 19, 1982
To The Editor:

As a new resident of Waveland, I have been impressed with the helpfulness of the people, but yesterday an event occurred that amazed and delighted me.

I was awakened early by knocking on my door.

Apparently I had lost my keys in front of my home the day before. They were being returned to me by one of the gentlemen who collect the garbage.

Since I had been absent from home the day before, they were making a special trip to return them.

I'm writing this so all will know the high caliber of the men.

Sincerely,
Rose Evans

ETHICS OF BUSINESS AND GOVERNMENT

Ethics in business and government is a subject that has grown increasingly important. In the day-to-day activities in business and government there are many decisions which must be made. Some are of little importance and some are of a significant nature.

Ethical considerations in these decisions can sometimes play a subordinate role to other aspects in the decision-making process. And many times the ethical implication of decisions is not clearly recognizable.

Aware of this, the Mississippi Economic Council last year assigned a committee to study the question of business and government ethics. The committee, after months of work, responded with a 13-point code of Ethics for business and government officials. While the Code does not address specific actions in business and government, it is a valuable guide in helping business and government officials in their activities.

The MEC has adopted the Code and suggests that it be considered for adoption by state and local business and government organizations.

"Mississippians understand ethics as accepted moral principles and values and recognize ethical behavior as beneficial to the individual and to society," the Code's preamble says. It adds, "We further recognize that if we are to preserve our free society and our self-government, we must preserve the ethical order of that society."

Soybean Day to explore farmer profit-making opportunities

Helping soybean farmers to stay in business and turn a profit is the aim of Mississippi Soybean Day.

The Feb. 15 meeting is co-sponsored by the Mississippi

Soybean Association (MSA) and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. Soybean Day will be held at the Bost Extension Center, Mississippi State University, Starkville. Registration and agribusiness exhibits open at 8:30 a.m. All soybean farmers and other interested persons are invited.

"Soybean Profits '83" with Dr. James R. Carpenter, director of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service will commence the program at 9:30 a.m.

Asia is one of the fastest growing markets for U.S. soybeans. Gil Griffith, former American Soybean Association (ASA) director of market development for Japan, will illustrate how farmer funded export promotion programs are developing and expanding demand. "Managing Costs and Increasing Profits" is the subject of Extension Economist Dr. Bob Williams.

An industry-sponsored luncheon will follow the MSA business meeting.

"Developing a Market Plan" is the thrust of the afternoon marketing workshop which features Alan Kluis, president of Ag Marketing Services, Inc., Mankato, MN. Four topics are included in the production workshop: "Using Lime Profitably," "Over-the-top Grass Herbicides, Where Do They Fit?," "Doublecropping Wheat/Soybeans" and "Soybean Seed Situation." Door prizes will be awarded throughout the day to MSA members.

Alleged Clermont looter nabbed

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A Bayside resident was arrested Friday for allegedly removing a large shrimp trawl from the porch of a Clermont Harbor residence which suffered water damage on Thursday, according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Peterson said, "The sheriff's office received a telephone call from a citizen who reported seeing a man go into a yard on Poinsetta Street in Clermont Harbor and remove a large trawl. The citizen gave a license number of a truck the suspect got into."

"Hancock Investigator Alvin Ladner investigated the incident which led to the arrest of Robert J. Tangus, 27, Rt. 2, Box 562, (Bayside Park), Bay St. Louis, and he is charged with grand larceny," Peterson stated, saying additional charges of burglary of tools from the Vo-Tech Center in November have also been lodged against Tangus.

He is lodged in the Hancock County jail in lieu of a $20,000 bond.

Tangus was a suspect in the Vo-tech burglary and Hancock Investigator Delbert Seay is working that case, Peterson said.

COLEMAN BUSINESS

BURGLARIZED

An investigation continues in the Tuesday burglary of Peterman's Lil Super Food Market and Package Goods Store according to Waveland Investigator Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille.

Tartavouille estimated some $4,500 to $5,000 in merchandise was removed from the two stores in addition to about $800 in cash.

Entry was made through a window. The cash register was removed in addition to cigarettes and numerous bottles of whiskey, according to Tartavouille.

An investigation into the Sunday burglary of Sportsworld on US-90 Waveland still continues, Tartavouille said.

Some 21 hand guns and ammunition estimated to have a value of $5,500 was taken in that burglary, the investigator reported.

"There have been some leads in both cases, with no suspects as yet," Tartavouille stated.

He requested citizens with any information on either burglary to please call the Waveland Police Department.

Assisting Tartavouille in the burglaries are Investigator Sandra Henley and Waveland Patrolman John Wilkerson.

Hancock TV Cable expansion to cost almost $1 million

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The cable television company serving most of Bay St. Louis and Waveland soon will begin an almost $1 million expansion project.

Albert Lamar, president of Hancock Community Cable, Inc., Thursday in Jackson confirmed the company is planning to begin a two-year customer expansion project in mid-March and sometime in the Spring offer all subscribers nine additional channels.

He said the $800,000 project will include installation of 60 miles of cable allowing the firm to add 3,200 subscribers in the Bay-Waveland area.

The company now serves about 2,300 customers, Lamar revealed.

Hancock Cable will extend service to residents who live in densely-populated areas just outside the city's corporate limits and town areas not already served, Lamar reported.

"We want to serve all the homes we can reach in Bay St. Louis, Waveland and the county," he stated.

He explained the present 12 available channels will be increased to 21 and "converter" devices will be available for all customers to allow reception of the new stations.

Lamar said some of the new stations being considered include Nickelodeon (children's programs), USA Network (sports and entertainment), Cable Health Network, The Weather Channel, The Movie Channel and Cable News Network II (a headline news service).

He noted the present channel selection consists of all New Orleans and Gulf Coast stations, WTBS in Atlanta, Entertainment and Sports Program Network, Cable News Network, Home Box Office and Christian Broadcasting Network.

A subscriber desiring installation of the nine new channels will be required to pay about $2 more monthly for the service, Lamar said.

Current monthly fees are $9.50 for 11 channels and $9 for HBO, he reported.

Plans for the two-year expansion include installation of 40 miles of trunk and service cable by the end of this year and remaining lines will be completed by the end of 1984, Lamar reported.

"There are definite holes in our coverage in Bay St. Louis and Waveland, but the biggest thing we're going to do is get into the county into areas outside the city limits," he stated.

"This expansion is in line with our general objectives to serve as many people in Hancock economically and provide the best programming we can get our hands on. In the past we've added new channels as they are available," Lamar explained.

Incorporated areas to receive cable service in the expansion include a triangular area bordered by Seube Street, Old Spanish Trail and US-90; the Idlewood Subdivision in Waveland; the Blakemoor Drive area of Bay St. Louis; new apartments under construction on Waveland Avenue; and north of Longfellow Road on Cadillac, Buick and Pontiac Streets, he reported.

County areas scheduled to receive cable service include Wolfe, Fiber, Good and Harrison Roads near Blue Meadow Road; Clermont Harbor; the Bay Cove Marina and condominiums in that development; densely populated areas just west on US-90 and north on Hwy. 603 from Waveland, Lamar listed.

To finance the expansion, Hancock Cable will seek a bank loan and sell $4 "limited partnership units" at $20,000 each marketed through Howard, Weil, Laboulasse, Friedrichs, Inc.

Regarding an announcement several months ago of Hancock Cable being sold to Essex, Inc., Lamar said the company could not produce the necessary funds for the purchase.

The present Hancock Cable owners are Lamar Outdoor Advertising, Inc. and Colosseum Corp. as a minor shareholder.

Lamar Communications, Inc. is the managing group for Hancock Cable.

Three arrested in connection with Pearlinton burglary

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Three persons were arrested Saturday in connection with the Jan. 12 burglary of Jerry's Restaurant and Lounge, according to Hancock County Investigator Delbert Seay.

Seay said, "John Lewis Burnett, 19, and Ralph Gerald Mitchell, 21, of Pearlinton were charged with the alleged burglary of Jerry's, and Edward Thomas Burnett, 46, is charged with allegedly receiving stolen property."

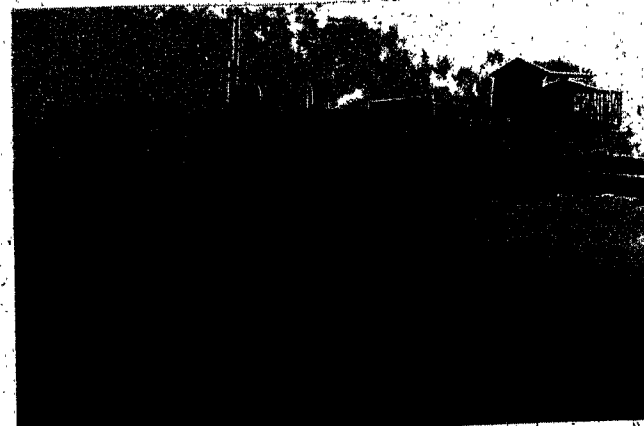

A large quantity of meat, beer, and coins from vending machines was involved in the burglary, Seay stated.

All three were lodged in the Hancock County jail and are scheduled to appear before Justice Court Judge Lee Klein for a preliminary hearing.

Bond has been set at $10,000 for Edward Burnett, and $5,000 each on the other two Seay, reported.

Assisting Seay in the arrests was Ronnie Cuevas, auxiliary deputy sheriff.

CEDAR POINT FLOODING—Waves during a freak winter storm Thursday wash portions of piers and debris across the Beach Boulevard seawall in Bay St. Louis near the Dambor Avenue intersection. Most of the boulevard was flooded and impassable as a result of high water and debris. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Roy Baxter of Pearlinton Friday said the flood gauge at his East Pearl River marina Thursday registered a tidal surge peak of 5.4 feet above normal.

He reported the river began rising at sunset Wednesday and peaked at about 5 p.m. Thursday.

Boudin said a similar gauge registered five feet above normal at Bordage's Marina, located upstream from the devastated Cadet Marina.

Baxter noted in a 1980 flood he recorded a maximum river height of 5.2 feet and a 1979 flood reached 5.7 feet, but both of those inundations were the result of rainwater accumulation.

A National Space Technology Laboratories spokesman Friday said the maximum wind speed recorded there during the storm was 27 knots, but winds along the coast were probably much stronger than at the inland government facility.

Rainfall from 8 a.m. Wednesday to 8 a.m. Friday totaled 2.73 inches, the spokesman reported.

The lowest barometric pressure of 29.53 inches was recorded sometime between 8 a.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday, the spokesman added.

Boudin said he as yet has no idea of the amount of damage caused by or the exact number of people evacuated in the storm.

But he said "hundreds" were evacuated by local residents with eight-10 boats, the Civil Defense skiff and five 2.5-ton (duce-and-a-half) trucks supplied by the 135th S and S. National Guard Detachment based on Longfellow Road.

Although Bay Junior High School was opened as an evacuation center, only 23 spent Thursday night there because many evacuees stayed at friends' and relatives' homes, Boudin explained.

Evacuation areas included Shoreline Park, Jourdan River Shores and Estates, Clermont Harbor, Bayou Cadet and Garden Isles, Boudin listed.

A Coast Electric Power Association spokesman Friday confirmed service was purposely shut off Thursday from about noon until 5 p.m. in several low-lying areas to avoid accidental electric shocks or fires in flooded homes.

Electric service to customers in most of Shoreline Park; all of Bayou Cadet and Garden Isles; portions of Lakeshore Road, Clermont Harbor and River Road in Belle Isle Subdivision near Pearlinton; and several trailers near Bordage's was interrupted during that time, the spokesman reported.

Many Mississippi Sound piers and numerous vehicles were damaged or destroyed, but most marina's and yacht clubs reported relatively light damage.

Toxie Hall, LaFrance's Fishing Camp manager, Friday said two freezers were destroyed by 18-20 inches of muddy flood water from Campbell's Bayou.

Charles (Chuck) Breath III, Bay-Waveland Yacht Club disaster chairman, said five-six privately-owned Sunfish sailboats were either destroyed or lost in the storm.

He reported two Flying Scot sailboats were damaged when flood waters floated them off trailers into the harbor where they capsized.

During the storm, Breath and several others retrieved the two sailboats.

Breath reported the club lost a recently-completed $15,000 bulkhead which had not yet been backfilled and refrigerators below the elevated club building were destroyed by the flood water.

In spite of the losses, Breath said the damages could have been a lot worse at the Bay St. Louis facility.

Hank Schwager, Pass Christian Yacht Club manager, Friday said the storm sunk two Flying Scots, but they have been refloated.

He said damage to boats in the harbor was minimal because Sid Ellis and Chuck Taylor assisted in adjusting lines on all the vessels.

Schwager reported high waves washed over the harbor's protective seawall.

Owner permission required to use buffer zone lands

Officials at the National Space Technology Laboratories remind the public that entering the privately-owned land which comprises the majority of acreage in NSTL's buffer zone is illegal without the permission of the individual landowners.

Anyone who enters the area to hunt, cut firewood or for any other purpose without the appropriate permission from the landowners will be subject to prosecution for trespassing.

Individuals and companies own most of the 125,327 acres in the acoustical buffer zone, which serves to dissipate the loud, low frequency sound waves generated by static tests of large rocket propulsion systems such as those being tested for the current Space Shuttle program.

The federal government owns a few scattered parcels of land.

Most of the buffer zone is located in Hancock County, but it extends north into Pearl River County and west into St. Tammany Parish in Louisiana.

The private landowners retain all rights to the property except for the construction of dwellings and similar habitable structures.

As NASA's agent, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has the responsibility for assuring that the regulations governing the use of the buffer zone are met.

In addition, area law enforcement officials, including sheriffs, constables, and game wardens, are charged with enforcing the law. Surveillance of the area is also provided by NSTL personnel.

The parameter of the buffer zone is clearly marked with signs, as are the 13,400 acres of government-owned land in Hancock County where the NSTL facilities are located.

Man gets life for sex attack

A Jefferson Parish man was sentenced to life in prison Friday after being convicted of kidnapping and sexually abusing a 9-year-old girl he forced into his car at an Algiers, La. playground and transported to Hancock County.

U.S. District Judge A.J. McNamara imposed the maximum sentence on Thomas Wayne Salisbury, 20, of 540 Willowbrook Drive, Gretna, La.

"The effect on the young girl in this case is unknown," McNamara said.

The judge told Salisbury he decided against sentencing him as a youth of tender because "you will not benefit from that treatment."

Salisbury admitted forcing the girl into his car at a Bodenger Playground in Algiers, then driving to Pearlinton where the attack took place.

Four hours later, Salisbury dropped the child off three blocks from her home.

Salisbury will face prosecution in Mississippi for kidnapping and also faces charges in connection with a sexual attack in Virginia.

Woman tells story of flood evacuation

By BRENT MACEY

While the Civil Defense and volunteers worked from early morning until nighttime Wednesday to save flood victims in Hancock County from rising waters, some families were forced to save themselves when rescue efforts were diverted to areas where flood victims were in the most eminent danger.

Violet Siewert, a resident of Herron Bay Estates Subdivision near LaFrance's Fishing Camp in Ansley, reported Friday from a temporary residence in Waveland Resort Inn, that her neighborhood received no assistance, and many families in the area were forced to weather out the storm in houses which are built on pilings 13 feet above sea level.

Her family, including three daughters and one son, managed to reach safety by borrowing a boat which drifted to their house on four-foot high flood waters.

The boat, owned by Tommy Longo, was normally moored in a canal some 20 feet away from the house.

Mrs. Siewert said she called the Civil Defense office several times during the day.

Although she was told at one point that a rescue boat was in the area, she said it never came to her house and she never saw it.

"At 9 a.m. I called the Civil Defense," Mrs. Siewert related.

At that time she said the water was approximately one-foot deep over the road in front of her house.

"I knew I couldn't get out," she said and stated the water was up to the door of her car.

She said she called the Civil Defense several other times until the family left at 4 p.m. in the Longo boat.

"Once they (the Civil Defense) said they were very busy and everybody was out working," she said.

At another time she said she was told a boat was in the area but families refused to leave their homes.

She said she was also told the Civil Defense did not not have the necessary equipment to reach the house.

By 4 p.m., the water was some six-feet deep directly under the Siewert house.

Most of the articles under the house, including her son's go-cart, had floated away, she said.

After loading her own family into Longo's power boat, Mrs. Siewert said she stopped at her sister's house to pick up two of her nieces and a nephew.

Since the boat could hold only eight people, Mrs. Siewert said her sister was forced to remain in her house.

Several other families were also still in their houses when the Siewerts maneuvered through floating debris to high ground at a railroad track, she said.

Bert Courrage, Beat One supervisor who worked into the night with rescue workers and the Civil Defense, stated he was aware of Herron Bay Estates area, and had direct contact with a man in a boat in the area via a CB.

Courrage said many of the people in the area refused to leave their houses.

He also said that he felt the residents in the area were relatively safe since all the houses in the subdivision conform to flood insurance regulations requiring elevations 13 feet one inch.

Courrage said residents in Shoreline Park and Bayou Cadet faced the most danger.

"A lot of the houses in Shoreline Park were built before the flood code," Courrage said.

He stated he saved one 80-year-old man who was floating on his bed in the house.

Courrage noted the Civil defense only has one small aluminum boat, and his county crew does not have boats or equipment to save people in flooded areas.

"For the most part we had to play it by ear and just concentrate on the worst places first,"

He said that although flood waters were high in the Herron Bay Estates, "I didn't feel anybody was in immediate danger."

Geroux, Thone wed in Biloxi

Deborah Denise Thone and Kerry Scot Geroux exchanged vows December 18 in an afternoon ceremony at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Biloxi.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thone of Biloxi. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Al Geroux of Bay St. Louis.

Rev. Wesley J. Kuhn officiated at the double ring ceremony. Nuptial music was provided by Christa Wheat accompanied by organist David Thielker.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk organza over taffeta fashioned with Queen Anne neckline, chantilly lace bishop sleeves and fitted bodice adorned with chantilly lace, seed pearls and sequins. Matching lace enhanced the scalloped hemline and chapel length train. Her veil of illusion was held in place by a cluster of miniature white roses.

She carried a colonial style bouquet of white carnations, red roses, baby's breath and fern.

Donna Thone of Avon Park, Fla., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Maria Holcomb of Biloxi was maid of honor.

Pat Vonderhaar of Long Beach was bridesmaid and Tressia Shaw of Biloxi was junior bridesmaid.

The attendants were attired in formal gowns of lavender and pink floral organza over crepe featuring Victorian necklines and ribbon and lace trim. They carried silk nosegays of matching flowers.

Kelly Geroux of Bay St. Louis, brother of the groom, was best man.

Groomsmen were Gary Sotak and Jeff Gex of Bay St. Louis and Gary Thone of Avon Park, Fla., brother of the bride.

Serving as ushers were Andy Elchos and Ricky Ladner of Bay St. Louis.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a fuschia colored gown with a red rosebud corsage. The mother of the groom was attired in a baby blue gown of crepe organza with a corsage of red rosebuds.

A reception followed at the church fellowship hall.

Decorations included arrangements of miniature red carnations and white chrysanthemums with holly and baby's breath.

Assisting at the reception were June Ford, Kathleen Ford and Marabeth Warrick of

Ocean Springs; Karen Shaw, Phyllis Litke, Linda Holcomb, Carolyn Bowen, Jan Parchert, Dee Kuhn and Christine Bowen, all of Biloxi; and Pam Haaseth and Lael Haaseth of Gulfport.

The couple will reside in Honolulu, Hawaii, where the groom is stationed with the U.S. Air Force. Out-of-town guests included Ray Condon Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Byrne Cambeth of Metairie and Kathi Geroux of New Orleans.

Diamondhead Garden Club tours DuPont Delisle Plant

The Diamondhead Garden Club met on Wednesday, Jan. 19 in the Aloha Room of the Country Club, with Mrs. Marion Kollasch presiding. She reported that the club has 84 active members, 12 associate members and eight honorary members.

Arbor Day chairman Mrs. Joyce Shread said the Arbor Day Tree Planting would immediately follow the February meeting.

Mrs. Lee Peterson, Flower Show chairman, asked for a minimum of 4 volunteers to make mobiles for the Flower Show which is to be held at the Baptist Church in Diamondhead on March 25 and 26.

Mrs. Pat Jones said the Garden of the Month had been awarded to Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Hector.

The Mardi Gras chairman Mrs. Sylvia Pross announced that the theme for the club's entry in the parade this year would be "Little Grass Shack".

Memorial Gardens chairman Mrs. Dorothy Booth cautioned the members about the indiscriminate planting of shrubs in the Memorial Garden, suggesting that they clear with her first to avoid over-planting bulb areas.

Mrs. Bobette Figueroa, Pilgrimage chairman, said she was in need of hostesses for some of the homes on the Pilgrimage, and asked for volunteers.

The president announced the next Coast Council meeting would be held at the Bay-Waveland Garden Center on Feb. 5 at 1 p.m. She also read thank-you notes from the members of the Miramar Nursing Home for the Christmas gifts the club had given them. Thank you notes were read from the pre-school children under the supervision of Mrs. Janet Bell, for the plants the club had given them to tend until the time of the Flower Show, when they will be entered in same.

The Parliamentarian Mrs. Grace Finley explained a change in the Constitution and By-Laws which will be voted on at the February meeting. It concerned Article VII, Section 1 and 2.

Guests attending were Nell Dundas, Bernie Johnson, and Barbara Stockhouse.

Announcement was also made of a change in the date of the April meeting to the second Wednesday, due to a conflict with the state convention dates.

Prior to the trip to DuPont, club members were shown slides of the plant and the surrounding environment. The visiting dignitaries from DuPont were Dave Settle, plant manager; Phil Michael, assistant plant manager; Paula Dayton; Steve McLaughlin and Dr. Jim Wolfe.

At the conclusion of the film, buses from DuPont took the group on a tour of the area where the chemical titanium dioxide is made and packaged. They also toured the administration building. Members had been told to invite their husbands and 15 accompanied their wives.

Submitted by Mrs. Clarence A. Evans, publicity chairman.

Guild names Pink Tea chairpersons

By JOE PILET

During a planning meeting and luncheon hosted by Mrs. John Frith on Wednesday in her Seaside Drive Home in Pass Christian, committee chair persons were named who will serve on the executive board for the Pink Tea annually sponsored by the St. Monica Guild, Women of Trinity.

Mrs. Frith who serves as overall chairman reported the tea would be given in the home of Mrs. J. Edgar Monroe on Friday, Feb. 25 and in honor of the late Mrs. Stanford M. Morse Sr. who for many years devoted her time, talent and energies to promoting the annual social event.

Mrs. Frith stressed that all ladies of the Gulf Coast community together with their guests and all winter visitors were invited through press releases, T.V. and radio to attend the function, considered one of the major social events of the winter season.

Committee heads include Mrs. J. Randolph Buck, invitations; Mrs. Theo. Moore, hospitality; Mmes. Harry Crouch and Avery Katz, refreshments; Mmes. A. M. Dantzer and Walter Martin, flowers and Mrs. Nunez Pilet, publicity.

"Hours of the tea are from 3 until 5 p.m. at Mrs. Monroe's residence, 845 Seaside Drive in Pass Christian," Mrs. Frith said.

Mrs. Moore expects to appoint receptionist and hostesses within the next several days.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." — John 10:10

By Shawn Murphy
MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

Unemployment is well over the ten percent mark. Older Americans are concerned about the possible collapse of the Social Security System.

Cost of living is up. There were more foreclosures of mortgages in 1982 than in any year since the Great Depression. And God Says What?

And why do you worry about clothes? See how the lilies of the field grow. They do not labor or spin. Yet I tell you that not even Solomon in all his splendor was dressed like one of these. If that is how God clothes the grass of the field, which is here today and tomorrow is thrown into the fire, will he not much more clothe you,

O you of little faith? (Matthew 6:28-30)

Yes, but by the time I pay the rent and the utilities there is barely enough money left over to buy groceries!

So do not worry, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'What shall we wear?' For the pagans run after all these things, and your heavenly Father knows that you need them. (Matthew 6:31-32)

Well, I'm glad that he is aware of what's going on down here. But just exactly what am I supposed to do about clothing my family and buying groceries in the meantime?

But seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well. Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about itself. Each day has enough trouble of its own. (Matthew 6:33-34)

Are you worried, troubled and depressed because times are hard? Perhaps you are out of a job, or living on a fixed income while the cost of everything increases. Well the answer is not in worrying!

Who of you by worrying can add a single hour to his life? (Matthew 6:27)

But God 'promises' that if we 'seek his kingdom and righteousness' first in our lives then 'all of these things will be added' to us as well.

'Do you believe God? Have you made Him Lord, and Master of your life? Have you worshipped Him lately? Have you talked to Him today?'

But seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well. (Matthew 6:33)

'Are you' seeking His kingdom?

While nature does an acceptable job providing beautiful subjects to photograph, there are times when it's desirable to enhance some of the scenes you see through our viewfinder.

For example, there may be occasions when you're looking at a delightful landscape, but rather than have blue sky with puffy white clouds, all you can see is a gray cloud cover.

Or suppose you want to add drama to a scene by covering a waterfront with a mysterious fog, but while you're on location, all you get are clear, star-filled nights.

What if you wanted to emphasize a single light — such as a solitary street-light or the sun — by creating a star-burst pattern around it?

Since nature doesn't supply those effects, they obviously need to be made.

French photographer Jean Coquin wanted to do these things (as well as a whole lot more), so he set about designing a set of filters that would create the bold, unusual and striking photographs that art directors and editors wanted to buy. Obviously filters aren't anything totally new, since picture takers learned how to change either the color of the light source (by placing a filter in front of their flash unit) or change the color of the light entering their cameras (by placing a filter over the lens) a long time ago.

What appears to make the Cokin System (the inventor's name was anglicized) different is the unique way it is attached to your lenses. Instead of having a different set of filters for each lens size, the Cokin System uses inexpensive adapters ($5 to $6) which attach to a universal filter holder, which in some cases come with a nicely illustrated 40-page instruction book that describes some of the simple creative uses for many of the basic filters.

If you've ever gone to the expense two, three or four similar sets of filters because of varying lens sizes, you will quickly realize the advantage of getting by with one universal set.

Filters, as you may have imagined, can be categorized in two ways — those that are used to create special effects and those that are used to correct "wrong" lighting conditions. Some filters may add to your initial confusion by falling into both categories.

A polarizing filter, for instance, may be useful in darkening the sky to create a special effect in an architectural picture, or it may be used to eliminate the wrong light that causes an unwanted reflection in a window or on a pond.

If you're caught having to use outdoor film inside with tungsten lights, there are filters that allow you to make very acceptable photographs with that combination.

Conversely, you can take tungsten-rated film outdoors, filter it and get equally good results. You can add warmth to your pictures, or you can add cooler tones; with graduated filters (colored at the top, clear at the bottom) you can add color to a gray sky and even bring out some texture in the overcast. You can compensate for the strange light waves that flow from fluorescent lights. And with specially etched filters, you can turn a clear night into a misty one.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Milton L. Durel of V spokesman for the Padre Pio in this area. The following is support of the cause of the canonization of the Italian cleric and Verna M. Calandra, Pa., director of movement in the States for canonization Padre Pio.

Pope John Paul II proved introductory beatification pro Padre Pio of Pietrelcina died in Italy on Sept. 1968 at the age of 61.

Padre Pio was Francesco Forgione, 25, 1887 in the V Pietrelcina, province Benevento in southern Italy. Although his health was poor, his strong will and prayers enabled him to be ordained in the of Benevento on Aug. 1911.

On Sept. 20, 1911 wounds of Our Lord appeared on his body. The first at the wrist, the second on the palm of the hand.

Countless number attracted to his confessional many receive correspondence, counsel and guidance.

His whole life was by long hours of prayer and continual austerity. His letters to his directors reveal the sufferings, physical and spiritual, which he endured all through life.

They also reveal deep union with God, love for the Eucharist and Our Lady.

Worn out by over-tury of intense suffering, constant apostolic San Giovanni Rotondo called to his heaven on September 23, 1968.

By FATHER KJ From eternity, been an incomprehensible mystery: shrouded human eyes. All the world knows what he has chosen through the law of Israel, through the death of his Son through what it seems.

Advocates of Padre Pio sainthood report case for cleric's canonization

EDITOR'S NOTE—Mr. Milton L. Durel of Waveland, spokesman for the Friends of Padre Pio in this area, submitted the following apology for support of the cause of sainthood for the contemporary Italian cleric authored by Vera M. Calandra of Norristown, Pa., director of the movement in the United States for canonization of Padre Pio.

Pope John Paul III has approved introduction of the beatification process for Padre Pio of Pietrelcina, who died in Italy on September 23, 1968 at the age of 81.

Padre Pio was born Francesco Forgione on May 25, 1887 in the village of Pietrelcina, province of Benevento in southern Italy.

Although his health was frail, his strong will and fervent prayers enabled him to be ordained in the Cathedral of Benevento on Aug. 10, 1910. On Sept. 20, 1918 the five wounds of Our Lord's Passion appeared on his body, making him the first stigmatized priest in the history of the Church.

Countless numbers were attracted to his confessional and many more received through correspondence, his saintly counsel and spiritual guidance.

His whole life was marked by long hours of prayer and continual austerity.

His letters to his spiritual directors reveal the ineffable sufferings, physical and spiritual, which accompanied him all through life.

They also reveal his very deep union with God, his burning love for the Blessed Eucharist and Our Blessed Lady.

Worn out by over half a century of intense suffering and constant apostolic activity in San Giovanni Rotondo, he was called to his heavenly reward on September 23, 1968. After a public funeral which attracted over 100,000, his body was entombed in the crypt of Our Lady of Grace Church.

Increasing numbers flock to his tomb from all parts of the world and many testify to spiritual and temporal graces received.

Over the years, visitors to Padre Pio included thousands of priest, bishops and even future Popes.

Pope Benedict XV said, "Padre Pio is truly a man of God. He is not esteemed according to his merits; you must assume the responsibility to make him known."

Pope Paul VI personally visited Padre Pio and referred to him as "a marked representative of the stigmata of Our Lord, a man of prayer and of suffering."

Pope John Paul II, as Father Karol Wojtyla, a young priest, in 1947 confessed to Padre Pio. The stigmatized friar told the future Pope that he would be elected to the Papacy and there would be bloodshed on him during his reign. In 1974 Cardinal Karol Wojtyla returned to San Giovanni Rotondo.

Along with several other Polish bishops, they spent three days at the Shrine to pray at Padre Pio's crypt.

Upon return to Rome, the bishops petitioned Pope Paul VI to give the "nihil obstat" (or approval) to the Cause which Archbishop Valentino Valtari on February 16, 1973, had presented to the Sacred Congregation for the Causes of Saints.

On March 20, 1983 Archbishop Valtari will head a conclave of bishops who will celebrate a solemn Mass at Our Lady of Grace Church in San Giovanni Rotondo.

Upwards of 200 priests are registered to participate in the ceremonies which will include also the announcement of the vice president, devil's advocate, notary, and other officers of the tribunal.

On New Year's Eve, December 31, 1982, Mrs. Vera M. Calandra, Director of the USA National Centre for Padre Pio, Norristown, Pa., received a telephone call from Italy from Father Gerardo di Flumeri, O.F.M.CAP., vice postulator for Padre Pio's Cause.

Father Gerardo congratulated Mrs. Calandra and her staff for their diligent work and personally invited the staff of the Centre to attend the March 20 Mass and opening ceremonies.

A delegation of collaborators and devotees of Padre Pio from various cities in the United States has been organized and will depart New York on March 15 to attend the celebration and also the inauguration of the Holy Year.

When Father Alessio Parente, O.F.M. CAP. and

Father Joseph Pius, O.F.M. CAP., English correspondents from Our Lady of Grace Friary, San Giovanni Rotondo called Mrs. Calandra to ask if she could believe the good news she was hearing, her reply was, "I knew it was only a matter of time. Our apostolate is to help people by teaching them of the holy life of Padre Pio. The Church's work is to declare him a saint."

Those who wish to receive free information on Padre Pio, including a prayer leaflet for his glorification, or anyone wishing to make known graces or favors received through Padre Pio's intercession are invited to write to the USA National Centre for Padre Pio, 11 N. Whitehall Road, Norristown, Pa. 19403 or to: Our Lady of Grace Capuchin Friary, 71013 San Giovanni Rotondo (Fg) Italy.

Haitian art on permanent loan to NOMA

The New Orleans Museum of Art has received on permanent loan a collection of 100 contemporary Haitian paintings and sculptures, the promised gift of Perry E. H. Smith.

Formed during a four-year residence in Haiti, the collection includes important works by Haitian artists from the founding generation of the 1940's and the current generation of young artists.

A selection of 12 works from the Smith Collection are now on display at the museum, and an exhibition of the entire collection is planned for 1984.

A number of the works in the Smith Collection were included in the major exhibition of Haitian Art, organized by The Brooklyn Museum and presented at NOMA in 1979.

Typically, Haitian painting and sculpture are highly emotional, richly colored, and full of movement and drama.

Themes in Haitian art are frequently derived from the roots of its rich national culture.

Many of these cultural roots—West African, French, Voodoo, Roman Catholicism—are shared with Louisiana, so it is particularly appropriate for the New Orleans Museum of Art to present a continuing survey of the art of Haiti, which it can now do with the Perry E. H. Smith Collection.

Martin names Employee of The Year

Richard Hinson of Slidell has been selected employee of the year from among 4,000 Martin Marietta Aerospace Michoud division personnel.

The Michoud division produces the huge external tanks for the nation's Space Shuttle. Hinson is assistant supervisor in the operation's small components thermal protection system application section. As employee of the year, he will attend a launch of the Space Shuttle as the honored guest of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Martin Marietta.

A Martin marietta employee since July 1978, Hinson has taken an active role in his work at Michoud and the Kennedy Space Center (KSC), Florida.

He was a member of the team sent to KSC to complete the critical task of applying insulation to the external tank prior to the first Shuttle launch.

During the past three years, Hinson has found 34 ways to improve his work area and increase safety.

Catholic Church Parish News

By FATHER KELLER
From eternity, God has been an incomprehensible, mystery shrouded from human eyes.

All the world knows of him is what he has chosen to reveal: through the law he gave Israel, through the life and death of his Son Jesus and through what it sees of him in us.

Congratulations to Joan Thomas who was runner up in the Mother of the Year contest sponsored by the Hancock County Branch NAACP. She was only $33.11 behind Rosie Williams who was crowned Mother of Year 1983.

At the 9 a.m. Mass last Sunday our three new members of the parish council were officially installed.

Congratulations Saunders Bell, Norman Smith and Marilyn Williams.

Later at the Altar Society meeting Hazel Breau was elected to represent that organization.

We welcome these new members and the other returning members to a fruitful year of labor for our parish family.

Kindly remember in your prayers Alicia Patricia Lang, the daughter of Derl Lang and Stephanie Collins, who was baptized at St. Rose last Sunday.

Religious instructions will be given today for our children attending public school: Kindergarten through 8th grade, Confirmation and Pre-Confirmation classes, all at 10 a.m. The 11th and 12th graders will meet on Monday at 5:30 p.m.

The Veterans Civic Association will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in our cafeteria.

Our Gospel Choir will practice on Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

The Concerned Citizens Organization of Hancock County will meet in our cafeteria on Thursday at 7 p.m. Annual election of officers will take place at this meeting. Annual dues and new memberships are payable at this meeting. Public is invited.

Next Sunday at the 9 a.m. Mass George Hicks, Jr. will be officially accepted into our parish family by his Profession of Faith. He will also receive the other Sacraments of Initiation, Confirmation and Eucharist, at this Mass.

Our Lady's Academy of Bay Catholic School System will hold placement tests for all incoming 7th, 8th and 9th grade students on Saturday, Feb. 5 at 10 a.m. in Our Lady's Academy. The test will last approximately one hour. Students are asked to bring $2 fee.

The Sea Coast Echo

Book Review

By JOE PILET

I can't get Mississippi off my mind. By Mississippi I am referring to a book of that title with text by Bern Keating and about a couple of hundred color-plashed photographs contributed by his wife, Franke.

Together this team has come up with a "winner".

Keating possesses a magical power with the use of words. He "tells it like it is," and he tells it with a rare sense of humor. The photographic technique and choice of subject matter gives an accurate account of Mississippians and their culture.

The book is a quality product — generous sized pages about 9 inches wide by 11 1/2 inches long and the hard cover has a linen-like finish in ecru. The paper is glossy. Shiny smooth and the type is easy on the eye.

Unerring good taste! Good taste born from experience for Bern Keating has published 24 books and articles too numerous to mention in magazines like Life, New Yorker, National Geographic, etc. And Franke gets credit lines for photographic work in Smithsonian, Travel, Leisure, etc.

The best thing about the book is that it de-bunks a lot of "bad press" that Mississippi has had to endure from ill informed writers over a period of years. Truly, the book should be on the required reading list for newcomers to the state, many of whom come into the state ready for a "cultural shock," or else to be self-appointed missionaries to bring a little refinement to the uncouth population.

The Keatings live in Mississippi by choice and in his introduction Bern says: "My entire family is the size of a ball point pen. We can live anywhere we want."

And he writes: "Mississippi has juice, flavor, color and scent — it is what only a Mississippi word can define. It has sumption." I am not really sure sumption is a Mississippi word, however, I truly don't recall having heard it used in any other state. It is listed in the dictionary, and sumptuous is a good word — meaning splendid, magnificent, lavish, costly — things like that.

The book focuses on six geographical regions. The Gulf Coast chapter includes hard facts and local legends and even a bit of David Farragut, pardon me, Admiral Farragut gossip.

The account of our Singing River at Pascagoula was sort of tongue-in-cheek, but we know it sings. And sand sculpting photos are simply great. Contents cover the Delta, Jackson, Natchez, the East, Faulkner Country and the hard-to-pronounce Eponymous River — that "heap big river" or Father-of-Waters — take your choice.

The Keatings have managed to make Mississippians feel pretty good about themselves. They have noticed our children are taught good manners, that our people are hospitable and kind hearted and courteous, and that women have soft sweet voices.

Unit 139 Legion Auxiliary sponsoring poster contest

Clement R. Bontemps Unit No. 139 of the American Legion Auxiliary is sponsoring a Poppy Poster Contest in all of the Bay St. Louis Schools.

The contest is open to all will be sent to the American Legion Auxiliary Department of Mississippi Convention in July where they will be judged on the state level.

Entries from the six winners of the state contest will be sent to Seattle, Washington in August where the six national winners will be chosen.

Anyone interested in entering can see a copy of the rules by asking the principal of his or her school or they can call Mrs. Rose Thompson at 467-3084 or Mrs. Lou Wilkerson at 467-8098. The poster contest ends Feb. 15.

POPPY POSTER CONTEST—American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 139 Miss Poppy presents the Poppy Poster Contest rules and a Poppy to Rogers James, North Bay Elementary principal.

students and there are six classes with one for Special Education students.

The posters will be judged by three local judges. A first place trophy will be awarded in each class and a ribbon will be presented for second and third place in each class.

There will be a plaque awarded to the school with the most entries.

All posters will be used to promote the Auxiliary's Poppy Day which will be held in April.

The six first place entries

They have noticed that the State of Mississippi is populated with gentle men and gentle women, and that the state attracts many artists, writers, musicians and they have noticed the beautiful landscapes, sea-scapes, mild weather and yes, a special brand of Mississippi charm. Read the book, you'll like it!

It was printed by the University Press in Jackson, paid for by the Mississippi Board and Department of Economic Development. Buy it at your favorite book store for $25 a copy, or put your name on the waiting list at public libraries.

W-D BRAND U.S. CHOICE BEEF

If your mother always told you to get the best quality for your money, she's right. The Beef People at WINN-DIXIE feel the same way. They believe in giving you only U.S. Choice...which means beef that is tender, but not soft...beef with perfect flavor that comes only from grain-fed cattle.

W-D Brand U.S. Choice Beef is deep in color...well marbled...and more important to your budget, it is trimmed of excess bone and fat before it's weighed, giving you more meat you can eat...at the best possible prices.

Retired Federal Employees blast SS commission report

Fifty new officers and leaders of the chapters of National Association of Retired Federal Employees met for a training workshop at Best Western Motel in Gulfport on Tuesday.

State NARFE Federation President Walter Nelms, of Clinton, was keynote speaker. Leroy Clem, Long Beach, chaired the meeting. Officers from NARFE chapters in Hattiesburg, Poyune, Bay St. Louis, Orange Grove, Gulfport, Biloxi, Ocean Springs, and Pascagoula were present.

The group unanimously expressed opposition to the recent report of the President's Commission on Social Security.

The report is an ill-conceived, impractical attempt to pass the buck politically through a hasty assembly of half-thought-out proposals which will not solve the problem; the chief problem is that Social Security has been saddled with too many programs, costing billions, which should never have been associated with Social Security, a spokesman for the group said.

Plans for establishing a

Council of Presidents of chapters in the Fifth Congressional District were endorsed, with quarterly meetings for coordinating efforts of all chapters being scheduled.

This exchange of ideas and concentration of effort should make the work of NARFE more effective on behalf of all Federal retirees, the spokesman said.

SCREENING ROOM ONLY

By David H. Jones

HBO Presently, the best viewing on HBO comes from the delightfully unconventional "Pennies from Heaven" starring Steve Martin, and two Australian imports, "Smash Palace" and "Gallipoli."

(1) "Pennies from Heaven" offers Steve Martin as a struggling songwriter during the Great Depression. He fan-tasizes that his lyrics are a part of the everyday routine; thus, in the middle of a dramatic confrontation, the characters suddenly break in to a song reminiscent of the 1930s. The result is an off-beat film that rises and falls, running the gamut of emotions as it magically works wonders on the soul.

Martin is coolly controlled throughout the film. Support by Bernadette Peters and Christopher Walken (Academy award winner in "The Deerhunter") is solid and the beautifully crafted and choreographed musical sequences are wonderful.

A good film that tries and succeeds.

(2) "Smash Palace" is an arresting drama with a unique sense of humor. This Australian film, starring a cast of unknowns, deals with domestic violence in a most unusual manner. The owner of a junkyard, and part-time race car driver, is getting a divorce. He simply wants his only child; the path he follows to obtain his daughter provides a gripping, well-paced finale that is full of false clues.

(3) "Gallipoli" is a beautifully photographed, conventional war story with carefully drawn portraits. Mel Gibson ("The Road Warrior") and Mark Lee star in Peter Weir's depiction of an Australian battalion sent headlong into a senseless charge for glory.

(4) "Continental Divide" stars the late John Belushi in Michael Apted's humorous tale of love. Belushi plays a Chicago newspaper columnist who must leave the city for his own protection. His editor sends Belushi to the Rocky Mountains to write a story on a reclusive researcher, played by Blair Brown. ("Altered States"). The chemistry between the pudgy Belushi, and the alluring Brown works well and the picture clicks along with its fine, subtle comedy.

Story Hour titles listed

Pre-school children are invited to attend story hour at the Bay St. Louis Library every Thursday at 10:30 a.m. "I'm a Little Teapot," a physical activity, begins this week's program. "Just Us Women" by Jeannette Caines is the first book to be read. "Where Is Thumbkin?" a finger play, will be performed between stories. "Doctor DeSoto" by William Steig, a 1983 Newberry Honor Book, will be the second book read. The program will conclude with the motion picture film "Ferdinand The Bull."

(5) "Neighbors." Belushi and cast don't fare quite as well in John Avildsen's "Neighbors." Based on Thomas Berger's best selling book with a screenplay from Larry Gelbart, who co-wrote this year's best comedy, "Twister," "Neighbors" begins with promise but ends predictably. And Dan Aykroyd, a "Saturday Night Live" colleague, doesn't help this film at all. If you want to catch Belushi/Aykroyd at their best, see "The Blues Brothers." In February, HBO brings the biggest money-maker of all time to the small screen, "Star Wars." This George Lucas fantasy, that will eventually spawn eight sequels, is a great mixture of fantasy and special effects. Starring Mark Hamill, Carrie Fisher and Harrison Ford, "Star Wars" is a fast-paced action film set in outer space. If you haven't seen this film (and you haven't), get your family together and enjoy.

Auntie Mame to benefit WYES-TV

A special performance of Le Petit Theatre du Vieux Carre's production of "Auntie Mame" will be staged Tuesday to benefit WYES-TV/12.

Curtain time will be at 8:30 p.m. A reception with wine and hors d'oeuvres will be hosted in the theatre courtyard beginning at 7:30 p.m. Desserts and coffee will be served during intermission.

Co-chairs for the event are Dottie Charbonnet and Janie LeBlanc. Tickets are $20 per person and checks are to be made payable to WYES-TV.

This special performance of "Auntie Mame" is made possible by Popeye's Famous Fried Chicken and Le Petit Theatre du Vieux Carre.

For more information, call WYES-TV at 496-5511 or write WYES-TV, P. O. Box 24026, New Orleans, LA 70184.

SPROCKETS—James Stewart and Paulette Goddard star in "Pot of Gold," to be presented on "Sprockets" at 8:30 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 27, on the Mississippi ETV Network. In the 1941 release, a young man and his girlfriend team up to convince his uncle, a wealthy cereal manufacturer, that some swinging music will add verve to the radio show he sponsors. George Marshall directed the musical comedy.

International trade confab set in Biloxi

The director of international trade for the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) will be the featured luncheon speaker during an international trade conference in Biloxi Feb. 2-4.

Michael E. Deegan, who will discuss "International Trade Opportunities and Options," will speak to conference participants at the luncheon Thursday, Feb. 3.

The conference, which is sponsored by the Small Business Development Center (SBDC) and the SBA, is designed for business owners and managers or potential owners and managers who want to acquire the skills, data and business contacts necessary to profit from an active role in international trade.

"Participants will be exposed to basic and advanced concepts of international trade including market development, transportation planning, and problems with payment and finance," said Morgan Miles, management analyst at the Gulf Coast SBDC.

Those attending the conference can attend workshops in four general categories, Miles said.

One group of workshops will deal with the basics of international trade. These sessions are designed for businesses that would like to increase their market's sales potential through exporting or importing, but have not been exposed to the basic concepts of international trade.

Another group of workshops will focus on all aspects of international trade for the natural resource-based industry, with an emphasis on how to market Mississippi products abroad.

Participants also can attend sessions on international trade for small manufacturers and distributors. These workshops will be designed for manufacturers and distributors who seek to increase and stabilize their sales by expanding the markets they serve. Topics will include marketing overseas, methods of exporting and production sharing.

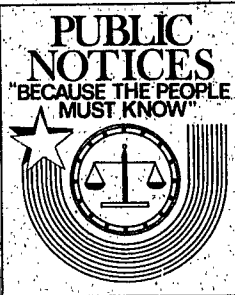

A group of workshops also will deal with more specific and advanced topics on international trade.

"Throughout the conference, participants may meet for one-on-one management assistance with representatives of trading companies, banks, freight forwarders, and others involved in international trade. The individual counseling sessions can be arranged during conference registration," Miles said.

More than 20 experts from government and industry will be speakers during the sessions which will be held at the Biloxi Hilton. Registration will be held from 5:30-8:30 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 2, and late registration will be from 7:30-8:30 a.m., Feb. 3 in the Topaz Room at the Hilton.

The conference is cosponsored by the Southern Center for Research in Innovation, the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Food and Fiber Center, the Forestry and Harvesting Training Center, the International Trade Club of Mississippi and the U.S. Department of Commerce, International Trade Administration.

Further information concerning the International Trade Conference may be obtained by writing or calling Morgan Miles, Small Business Development Center, USM-Gulf Park, Long Beach, MS 39560, (601) 868-7271.
